Announcing ART INSTRUCTION The Exciting New Art Magazine

Something new under the sun! An art magazine that deals with art from the practical standpoint -- for all artists, students and teachers of art, and the layman interested in art.

ART INSTRUCTION covers pictorial and advertising art (with emphasis on technic and composition), design and decorative arts, graphic arts, photo engraving as it concerns the artists, etc.

Editors Ernest Watson and Arthur Guptill are already known to you for their outstanding work in art. You've read their books. Perhaps you have studied in their classes.

Send for a sample copy. Ask about the ART INSTRUCTION LIBRARY'S first two titles: "Pencil Drawing," by Ernest Watson, and "Pen Drawing," by Arthur Guptill.

ART INSTRUCTION is $3.00 a year. The books are $1.50 each, postpaid.

FINE ARTS

It is common knowledge that it takes the connoisseur many years to gather together a rare collection of art and yet many lose sight of the fact that years of effort can be destroyed in a few moments by fire and other perils. There are so many hazards to which fine arts are subjected that it is practically impossible to name them.

Few owners stop to realize that their paintings, etchings, bronzes, tapestries, rugs, antiques, rare books and other art objects can be insured under a Fine Arts Policy, which is designed to cover practically all risks. It can be issued to cover not only on the premises of the assured, but also while in transit, or on exhibition. If your treasured possessions are not insured, telephone or write us today, and we will be glad to give you full particulars.
